Senior Kyle Bowen is a member of the Science Olympiad club and was recognized during a bridge- building contest with the group.

His goal before graduation is to help the team qualify for the state competition.

“I felt like it was time to take charge as a senior and help pave the way for future successors in the club,” he said. “I’m honored to be recognized when there are so many individuals who display great qualities on a daily basis.”

Kyle is a member of the school’s golf team and Future Business Leaders of America. He also works at the Elmhurst Country Club.

He was recognized as an AP Scholar and is a member of the National Honor Society. Kyle received high honors throughout high school, and was a Lackawanna League Division II All-Star for his participation in the golf team and was the team’s captain.

After high school, Kyle plans to attend Penn State and major in architectural engineering.
