

North Pocono

Brandon Butler, Doug Carroll, Joey Antosh and Matt Kuniegel built sturdy, solid bridges during North Pocono's annual bridge building contest.

The competition is part of the International Bridge Building Competition that focuses on the construction and testing of model bridges to promote the study and application of fundamental principles in physics.

By participating in the competition, Brandon, Doug, Joey and Matt experienced what it's like to be an engineer. They will represent North Pocono at the regional competition at the Viewmont Mall in Dickson City on Feb. 21. They will compete against schools from 18 counties.
